

Although I thought we were through with all of the tough stuff, we still threw ourselves thoroughly into what we needed to do, which, based on what I had read, was reading about kneading bread.