

I really can't bear to have this beer in my beard. I would prefer to have it stick to my bare skin. Well, since this steak came with bread, maybe I will break off a piece and use it to soak up the beer before my mother tells me to pump the brakes with her stare from across the table.