I returned from my holiday last autumn to find that the dustbin men had left lots of rubbish in my front garden so I complained to the caretaker.

I work as a clerk in a bank in the centre of town, and my wife Irene has got a job as a sales assistant at a chemist.

I came back from my vacation last fall and found that the garbage men had left a load of trash in my front yard, so I complained to the janitor.

I work as a teller in a bank downtown, and my wife Irene has a job as a clerk in a drugstore.

British:

-I was at a pub in the city centre eating some chips and watching the football match. Then I remembered I was out of petrol! I took out torch from the boot and started walking but then I realised that I didn't have enough money for the underground.

-I stopped at a shop to buy some biscuits or sweets but the queue was all the way out to the pavement.

-I took the lift to my flat and watched the telly.

United States:

-I was at a bar downtown eating some fries watching the soccer game. Then I remembered I was out of gas! I got a flashlight from the trunk and started walking, then I realized I don't have money for the subway.

-I stopped at a store to buy some cookies or candy but the line was out to the sidewalk.

- I took the elevator to my apartment and watched tv.
