The Super Bowl is the biggest sports event of the year in America, and watching the game on TV is all part of the fun. So don't worry if you don't give a damn about sports – the Super Bowl is a fine excuse for a late night out in London, as it's being screened at around 11.30pm UK time on Sunday February 5 2017.

There are plenty of bars and pubs screening the Super Bowl around London, so find your perfect venue, grab a beer and settle in. The game should last around four hours, so get comfy and stay awake long enough to enjoy the half-time entertainment.

Don't know the rules? Fear not, just check Time Out's video of drunk American dudes 'explaining' the Super Bowl. You won't learn anything, but it's funny as hell.

And don't forget to check our guide to London events in February to keep you entertained over the month.

2.2.2 Grammar: past simple

Forma

AFFIRMATIVE	NEGATIVE	INTERROGATIVE	SHORT ANSWER
I You He She worked* It We You They	I You He She didn't work It We You They	I You He She Did It We You They work...?	I You He She It Yes, it did We You They No, it didn't

■ Afirmativa

Para formar el pasado, tenemos que distinguir dos tipos de verbos:

- Verbos irregulares: tienen su propia manera para formar el pasado:

go → went have → had eat → ate

- Verbos regulares: el pasado se forma añadiendo la terminación “-ed” al infinitivo sin “to” en todas las personas.

walk → walked stop → stopped dance → danced

La terminación “-ed” se ajusta a las siguientes reglas:

*SPELLING RULES regular ending “-ed” (Reglas ortográficas para la terminación en “-ed” del pasado de verbos regulares)
1.	Regla general, se añade -ed al infinitivo.	+ ed	work	worked
2.	Verbos que acaban en “-e”, añaden solo la “-d”.	+ d	dance	danced
3.	Verbos acabados en consonante + -y . Se cambia -y por -i y se añade -ed .	y → -ied	study	studied
4.	Verbos acabados en sílaba tónica y en consonante + vocal + consonante , doblan la última consonante.	Double consonant	stop	stopped

■ Negativa

Para negar en pasado se usa el auxiliar de pasado DIDN'T + INFINITIVO

- I worked late yesterday → I didn't work late yesterday

Fíjese bien cuando use el pasado simple en negativa, porque el error más común es usar el verbo en pasado:

- I didn't ~~worked~~ late yesterday.

- Interrogativa

Para preguntar en pasado hay que seguir el orden de la interrogativa en inglés:

Partícula interrogativa + auxiliar+ sujeto + verbo

El auxiliar de pasado es did y el verbo va en infinitivo.

(WH-) Question + did + Sujeto+ infinitivo..?

- What did you do yesterday?
- Where did he go on holiday?

Para la respuesta corta, se aplican siempre las mismas reglas que para el resto de los verbos: preguntamos con el auxiliar did y se responde con el pronombre y con la forma del verbo en concordancia con Yes o No.

- Did Mildred work at home yesterday? Yes, she did.*
- Did you go on a business trip last week? No, I didn't.*

Usos

Usamos el past simple para describir acciones que sucedieron en un momento específico del pasado, por ejemplo, yesterday (ayer) o last year (el año pasado).

- I played football last Saturday. (Jugué al fútbol el sábado pasado)
- Yesterday we went to the beach. (Ayer fuimos a la playa)

Expresiones usadas con el pasado simple

- Yesterday (ayer), the day before yesterday (anteayer), yesterday morning (ayer por la mañana).
- Last week (la semana pasada), last Friday (el viernes pasado), last month (el mes pasado), last year (el año pasado), last summer (el verano pasado).
- Two days ago (hace dos días), four months ago (hace cuatro meses), three years ago (hace tres años).
- In 1999 (en 1999), when I was a child (cuando yo era niño/a).

2.2.3 Reading

S39. Read about Michael Jackson's biography and answer the questions. Lea sobre la biografía de Michael Jackson y responde a las preguntas.

American superstar Michael Jackson was born in Gary, Indiana, on August 29, 1958 to a large African-American working class family. His mother Katherine Jackson was a homemaker and his father, who left his aspirations as guitarist worked as a crane operator. He believed in his sons' talent, he formed a musical group in the early 1960s. At first, the Jackson Family performers consisted of Michael's older brothers, Tito, Jermaine and Jackie. Michael joined his siblings when he was 5 years old. His older brother Marlon also became a member of the group, which evolved into the Jackson 5.

Michael and his brothers moved to Los Angeles and the Jackson 5 was introduced to the music industry at a special event in August 1969.

Their first album, Diana Ross Presents the Jackson 5, hit the charts in December 1969, with its single, "I Want You Back," reaching No. 1 on the Billboard Hot 100 chart shortly afterward.

A musical prodigy, Michael soon became the dominant voice and focus of The Jackson 5. They sang songs like "I Want You Back," "ABC," and "Never Can Say Goodbye." Solo success for Michael was inevitable, and by the 1980s, he became much more popular than his brotherly group. He sold millions of records, culminating in the biggest-selling album of all time, "Thriller" in 1982.

He married Lisa Marie Presley, Elvis Presley's daughter and they got a divorce a few months later. He had three children with his second wife.

Michael died on June 25, 2009, at age 50, just as he was coming out of a four-year reclusive period and rehearsing for a sold-out London concert "comeback" in July.

Michael Jackson, called the "King of Pop", and his contributions to music, dance, and fashion along with his publicized personal life made him a global figure in popular culture for over four decades.

2.3.1 Chinese New Year

S41. Read and answer the questions. Lea y responde a las preguntas.

Chinese New Year

Chinese New Year is the most important of the Chinese holiday and it is also called the Lunar New Year.

As the Chinese use the Lunar calendar for their festivals, the date of Chinese New Year changes from year to year. On the Chinese calendar every month begins with the new moon so the date corresponds to the new moon (black moon) in either late January or February.

Chinese New Year's Day begins on the first day of the first lunar month and ends on the 15th day that is the date of the full moon. The first day of the Chinese New Year is when Chinese people welcome the different gods to their homes. There are many superstitions on this day. Many people believe that not eating meat will bring them a long life. Others believe it is bad luck to light fires so many people cook the day before. Other bad luck things to do on New Year's Day is getting a haircut, sweeping the floor and buying books.

The most important thing to do on this day is to visit and enjoy a big meal with your family. On New Year's Day all Chinese children wear new clothes with bright colours. Children like this day because they get the traditional New Year's gift called "Lai see" (lucky money). Children's older relatives put the money into bright red and gold envelopes. Red is a traditional colour for festivals, celebrations, weddings and birthdays.

It is a very festive time. People hang red lanterns from their houses and cook all kinds of traditional food. It is also very noisy as people let off firecrackers and fireworks in the street to celebrate.

Chinese Calendar

The Chinese calendar is different from that used in the United Kingdom. It is made up of a cycle of twelve years, each of them being named after an animal.

These animals are the rat, ox, tiger, rabbit, dragon, snake, horse, ram, monkey, rooster, dog and pig. This is very like our signs of the zodiac. Some people believe that people born in a particular year such as the year of the Dog will have some of the characteristics of that animal.

The Year of the Rooster

The Chinese New Year of the Rooster began on 28 January 2017. It is year 4715 on the Chinese Calendar.

The date of Chinese New Year varies each year and the next will be on 16 February 2018, when it will be the Year of the Dog.

SCRIPT

Nikki: Hi, Mary! How was your weekend?

Mary: Hi, Nikki. It was nice.

Nikki: Were you out on Saturday?

Mary: Not on Saturday. On Friday night I was at the cinema.

Nikki: Oh, were you at the cinema of the new shopping center?

Mary: Yes, I was. It was full of people. It was quite stressful.

Nikki: What was the film?

Mary: It was "A Monster calls".

Nikki: Oh. I've heard a lot about that film. It received really positive reviews from critics, but did you like it? Was the film good?

Mary: Well, I really liked it. It was amazing but for me it was a very moving film.

Nikki: What was the story about?

Mary: Well, it tells the story of a child whose mother is terminally ill; one night, he is visited by a giant tree-like monster (Neeson), who tells him that he will come back each night and tell him three stories.

Nikki: Oh, I see. What a hard situation for a child. I can't see that kind of films. Were the actors good?

Mary: Yes, they were. I only remember the name of two of them, Sigourney Weaver, the boy's grandma and Liam Neeson who was the monster.

Nikki: Wasn't Felicity Jones the mother?

Mary: Yeah, you're right.

Nikki: Were you with your husband?

Mary: No, I wasn't. I was with my friend Susan and a colleague. They were on a business trip in Santiago so we spent the weekend together.

Nikki: Did you have dinner at the shopping center after the film?

Mary: No, we didn't. There were too many people. We were at the Italian restaurant which is near the shopping center. I love antipasto there! Well, what about you? What did you do last weekend? ...

SCRIPT: Well, my mom, Anne, was born in Ourense in 1972, but she didn't grow up there. Her family moved house a lot, because her father, that's my grandfather, worked in a bank and had to work in different branches of the company. They lived in Santiago, A Coruña and Vigo. At the end of school, she took her GCSE examinations and went to University in Santiago to study English languages. She graduated in 1995 and moved to Cardiff to work and improve her English. She worked in a school for two years as a Spanish teacher. She got tired of living there, missed a lot her family so she decided to come back to Galicia. She studied hard to be a teacher and passed the exams to work for the Galician Education Department in 1999.

How did my parents meet one another? Well, they studied at the same High School but they were in different courses because my mom is one year older than my father. So they already knew each other although they didn't meet since they finished school. They met again in October, 1999 at the bar that is near the school at Christmas. My dad and his friends were playing cards, he needed a partner, and my mom just happened to be sitting at the table next to the table with her friends, and she said yes, she did know how to play cards.

I'm not sure how long after they started dating and they got out for five years and they got married in 2001. They had two children, me and my brother Miguel. Today they are still happily married!
