Subject: Ice Cream and Bicycles

Hi Katie,

We were at my grandmother's house in Los Angeles last week and my uncle took us to a strange ice cream shop – Peddler's Creamery.

I was really surprised! They haven't got ice cream in the window – there are bicycles. At Peddler's Creamery, they use the energy from a bicycle to make ice cream! There's a special machine to make ice cream behind the bike. A man called Edward Belden got the idea one day. He made the machine and then, he rode his bike around Los Angeles. At the same time, he made some ice cream – four and a half litres of ice cream every five kilometres!

In April 2013, Belden opened Peddler's Creamery. The ice cream is organic and there are many interesting types. I had the strawberry ice cream and it was delicious!

We're going to go surfing at the beach in Los Angeles next month. Come with us. We can go to Peddler's Creamery and have ice cream.
